

Links Players

HISTORY

Links Players International began as the Links Foundation in 1980. It was the inspiration of Jim Hiskey, Wally Armstrong, and other tour professionals to publish a newsletter to share their faith with golfers worldwide. This newsletter was published 4-6 times a year from 1981 to 1998, and the ministry has since expanded its calling to include efforts to form fellowship groups worldwide.

OVERVIEW

At Links Players, we help men and women change the conversation at their clubs and courses where they play golf—from surface to substance, me to others, and temporal to eternal.

This mission happens through a ministry of presence, where a Links Fellowship allows participants to explore the life and words of Jesus Christ through examination of the Scriptures, to pray together in support of each other's walk of faith, and to reach out to those in their club who need the heart change that salvation in Jesus produces.
